Dean,

I just wanted to add to the original update regarding our current status of certification training.

I currently have one operator in training for intro to wastewater in Rice Lake Wisconsin

A second operator who already had wastewater certification will be in Tomah Wisconsin the third week of September for phosphorous removal training.

Both these operators will be in Chippewa Falls taking their activated sludge training the end of October.

The next testing will be the first Wednesday of November at which time both operators will be tested out on all training.

By the end of November I will have operators certified in wastewater, activated sludge, phosphorous removal and ponds and lagoons.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Hard copy to follow.
